Submarine Question Is Momentous

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The British statement in opposition to the use of submarines was submitted to the full naval committee of the Arms Conference to-day. Lord Lee, head of the British Admiralty, presented the argument for the abandonment of submarines as a naval arm and the French delegation presented a statement vigorously opposing the abolition of the submarine. Lord Lee presented the following estimates of submarine tonnage: United States, $5,000; Great Britain, $0,500; Japan, $2,000; France, $2,360. Lord Lee said the friends of the submarine contended that it was a legitimate weapon of weaker powers, an effective and economical means of defence of coast lines and maritime communications. Both contentions could be challenged on technical grounds and were clearly disproved by recent history. Lord Lee declared the methods of detection and destruction of submarines had proceeded much farther than the developments of the submarines themselves and greatly reduced the value of the submarines against modern warcraft.

U. S. Tariff Bill Very Unpopular In States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Adjournment of Congress to-day for the holiday period finds the Tariff Bill in a state of great uncertainty as to the time of enactment in the House of Representatives. Some leading Republicans are growing apprehensive over the political effects of American valuation and excessive duties and in the Senate lines are forming for a long and bitter opposition.

France and Italy Accept Limitation Capital Ships

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Statements in behalf of France and Italy accepting formally the United States proposal for Limitation of capital ships armament were made to-day at a meeting of the delegates of the five major powers at the Washington Conference.

Lloyd George and Briand Agree on Essential Points

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Premier Briand stated this morning that an agreement had been reached on many points in his conference with Premier Lloyd George. "One could almost say on practically all essential points," he added.

Japan Will Oppose

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Japan will formally oppose any discussion of the validity of the twenty-one demands treaty of 1915 if the matter is brought up by China as expected in tomorrow's meeting of the Far Eastern Committee of the Arms Conference. It was announced in responsible Japanese circles.

Canadian Ex-Servicemen In Distress In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—There is so much distress among Canadian ex-soldiers and other Canadians in New York City that the President of the Canadian Club has issued an appeal for help.

ADVERTISE IN THE "ADVOCATE"

"PRESIDENT OF IRISH REPUBLIC" DETHRONED BY PUBLIC SENTIMENT

DE VALERA IN A NEW ROLE

Irish leader in his robes as Chancellor of the National University at Dublin.

MOST INFLUENTIAL FIGURES IN ROMAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY UNANIMOUS IN CENSURING DE VALERA'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS ANGLA-IRISH TREATY. "TONE DE VALERA ACTED UNFAIRLY," DECLARES CARDINAL LOGUE.

Special Cable Despatch to The Montreal Standard.

BELFAST, Dec. 14.—Complete and unqualified ratification of the Anglo-Irish treaty and the fall of the curtain on De Valera's activities in Irish affairs, with the official exit of the "President of the Irish Republic" from office, are looked for here.

Every indication points to the complete success of the treaty proposal. There is a feeling of satisfaction spreading throughout Ireland and even the most radical Sinn Féiners have declared themselves as unanimously supporting the pact.

So far as De Valera is concerned, his authority is at an end. The "president" is in the bad graces of his people and the most influential members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy have severely censured his hand.

"I THINK DE VALERA ACTED UNFAIRLY"—CARDINAL LOGUE.

The Standard correspondent has received the following expressions of opinion from members of the Hierarchy on Eamon De Valera's stand with regard to the Anglo-Irish agreement.

CARDINAL LOGUE: "I am in favor of the treaty being ratified. I think Mr. De Valera in his declaration acted unfairly in prejudicing the decision of the Dail Eireann. I shall probably call a meeting of the Bishops early next week. The country should be consulted."

ARCHBISHOP GILMARTIN: "Quoted as saying he is strongly in favor of ratification of the Peace Treaty signed by the Irish plenipotentiaries."

ARCHBISHOP HARTY: "I hope the Peace Treaty between Britain and Ireland will be ratified."

BISHOP BROWNIDGE: "I heartily wish the Peace Treaty ratified."

BISHOP FOLEY: "It would be a great calamity if the peace terms were not ratified. Apart from a few particulars, the terms are far better than expected."

BISHOP O'DONERTY: "I am in favor of ratification. I cannot understand the president's announcement."

BISHOP BROWNE: "In favor of ratification."

BISHOP FINEGAN: "In favor of ratification."

BISHOP MULHENS OF DROMORE: Does not wish to interfere at this stage.

Awaiting Development

(Montreal Star.)

Interest in the development of natural resources within the Empire will be accentuated by the announcement that the Armstrong-Whitworth firm intends to expend seven millions in the opening up of the Humber River Valley in Newfoundland. It is proposed to erect paper mills twice the size of the Harnsworth plant at Grand Falls, in addition to aluminium works and other industries at Grand Lake. This is an excellent thing for the island colony, whose great natural wealth only awaits the enterprise of powerful firms such as Armstrong-Whitworth to yield a most profitable revenue. While Canadians will congratulate the Newfoundlanders, however, they may also take thought that there is ample scope in this Dominion for similar enterprise to engage itself upon.

For instance, in what direction could capital be better expended with a reasonable hope of lucrative returns than in the opening up of the Ungava territory? Government surveys have shown that country to be rich in almost all natural resources—timber, minerals, water-power—and this to an extent which astonished those who made the survey and has astonished even more those who have inquired into the question since. The extension of wheatlands into this territory is proceeding slowly, of necessity, because as yet no large amount of capital has been invested, but agricultural experts declare that the prospects of a big wheat belt in Ungava are assured once the land is cleared.

The lumber is of the finest quality and in tremendous quantity. There are ample waterways, and modern

Constituents of DeValera Back Treaty

ENNIS, Ireland, Dec. 22.—Clare County Council, DeValera's constituency, to-day voted 17 to 5 in favour of the Anglo-Irish agreement and requested DeValera to use his influence for the maintenance of national unity. The resolution added there were grave objections to the treaty but declared that was no rational alternative to its acceptance. Rejection of the treaty, the resolution added, "would be almost certain to involve us in war or annihilation, because our people will be divided and because world opinion, instead of being with us as at present, will be against us."

Discussions Adjourned Until Jan. 3rd

DUBLIN, Dec. 22.—The Dail decided late to-day on a motion submitted by Michael Collins, to adjourn further debate on the Irish agreement until January 3rd. It was not the motion itself but the amendment to the motion on which the vote was taken. The amendment, introduced and seconded by opponents of the Treaty, called for continuous day and evening sittings until a division was taken on the question of ratification. The defeat of the amendment automatically decided the motion. With few exceptions, so far as could be observed, the vote followed party lines and is believed to indicate the approximate relative strength of the parties, that is, 77 for the Treaty and 44 against, though nobody believes that if the vote on the Treaty itself had been taken the majority would have been so great. When the result was announced considerable elation was shown by Collins and other supporters of the Treaty, while De Valera's face was stern and grim.

BIG DEVELOPMENT OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Armstrong-Whitworths Will Spend Seven Million Dollars In Two Years

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 15.—Extensive plans for the development of the natural resources of Newfoundland, with the immediate employment of 2,000 men, were announced by H. D. Reid, President of the Reid-Newfoundland Company, yesterday. He returned on Monday from a three-month visit to Great Britain.

Mr. Reid said that while in London he had negotiated a contract with the Armstrong, Whitworth Company, Limited, of Newcastle, to develop the resources of the Humber River Valley. Under the project, he continued, paper mills would be established twice the size of the large Harnsworth plant at Grand Falls which supplies newsprint to the Northcliffe papers in London, with a capacity of 1,000 tons daily. Mr. Reid described the contract as guaranteeing the expenditure of seven million dollars within two years, with the establishment of aluminium works and other industries at Grand Lake and extensive water-power development. He said the men to be employed at once would be used in logging through the winter.

engineering could overcome the difficulties of circumventing certain rapids and falls without great labor. There are well defined geographical features, that indicate natural lines for transportation, and in other directions the field presents an attractive opening for capital and enterprise such as Newfoundland has been fortunate enough to secure. The matter is one with which our Provincial Government might advantageously concern itself. What Mr. H. D. Reid can achieve for Newfoundland, surely somebody can accomplish on behalf of Quebec.

LATEST. Prince To Marry Lady Cavendish

PARIS, Dec. 23.—Premier Takahashi of Japan is quoted by the Tokio correspondent of the newspaper Excelsior as declaring "Quadruple entente which for Japan replaces Anglo-Japanese alliance is much wider in bearing and all chances of war." "I venture to say," he continued, "that the Washington conference has opened new epoch in the Pacific and the world. I not only believe that the entente will result in making the Japanese people happier because it will lighten their burdens, but further that by reason of guarantee we obtain the position of Japan is strengthened in the Far East." In regard to China the Premier is quoted as saying "China is in an advanced state of decomposition. It will be unpleasant situation for Japan and misfortune for China if, as a result of her anarchy, she does not co-operate with friendly powers seeking to bring about her unification."

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Mayfair is extremely busy discussing the reported coming announcement of the engagement of the Prince of Wales to Lady Rachel Cavendish, fourth daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, former Governor-General of Canada. The betrothal will be formally announced, it is said, immediately following the arrival home of the Prince from his trip to India, the wedding to take place some time in the fall of 1922. Lady Rachel will be bridesmaid at Princess Mary's marriage in February. No official confirmation of this report is yet available.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Cyril's Bride.

Then she opened her lips and struggled for words.

"You went away with her—with Becca," she said, in a low voice.

"I went off with Becca—poor little Becca South!" Cyril echoed. "Great Heaven! what made you think so?"

"They told me at the station," said Norah, faintly; "and—and you were with her that night of the ball, and I saw you—ah, I saw you give her the ring—"

Cyril uttered a groan of desperation.

"I know! Yes, I gave her the ring. I once gave a child a stick toffee, and Becca South was no more than a child, a—nothing to me. I gave her the ring because she had found it, and she was unhappy about that among other things, and I thought it would console her—"

"And—and then you went without a word—"

Cyril stared at her.

"Without a word? Why, Norah, I wrote to you; I sent you a letter by her! I couldn't help going. I wrote and explained it all. I begged and prayed you to send me a word—just one word. But you didn't. Nor did you when I wrote from Brittany, imploring you to tell me why you had cut me at the ball. Why didn't you write?"

"I—I never got the letters, neither of them!" said Norah, the tears, running slowly down her face, "and I thought—oh, Cyril, how could I help it?—that—that you wished to break off, that you had thought better of it, and—"

At this juncture Jack looked round from his inspection of a picture.

"I think I have intruded long enough," he said; "I'll take myself off. You can call if you want me. Don't break another window, Cyril."

Norah held out her hand to him.

"Will you not say that you forgive me, Mr. Wesley, for my rudeness to you that night?" she said, her big eyes turned on him so pleadingly that Jack's heart, which was of the very softest, melted in a moment.

"I'd forgive you more than that, Lady Norah," he said; "and I understand now that the sting was meant for our young friend here rather than me; and he got it. If you had seen him when I told him—But there," he said, quickly, "all that is part of the past misunderstanding, Lady Norah."

Norah looked up at him gravely.

"You are as good as Cyril," said, she murmured, softly. "But—but you must not call me Lady Norah."

Jack began at her.

"I—I beg your ladyship's pardon; Lady Arrowdale, I suppose I ought to have said."

"No," said Norah, "I am not Lady Arrowdale, I am simply Norah Woodfern."

It was a day of surprise, but this statement, delivered in her calm, sweet voice, startled the two men considerably.

Jack was the first to speak.

"What do you say, Lady Norah?" he said, gravely, for he saw that something was coming.

"It is true," she replied, looking from one to the other. "I am not Lady Norah, the daughter of the late Earl of Arrowdale, but the daughter of the countess's companion, Catherine."

Her lips trembled, and she lowered her eyes. "I'll—I'll try and tell you," she went on bravely.

Cyril holding her hand, and Jack leaning against the window with his arms folded, she told the story and produced the certificates.

Cyril with difficulty refrained from telling Norah that he was the Earl of Arrowdale. But he did refrain, afraid that her pride would keep her from marrying him.

He persuaded Norah to go to Lady Ferndale for a few days, and he accompanied Norah to the house and confided to her ladyship his identity and his desire to marry Norah immediately.

Lady Ferndale added her voice to his pleas to Norah, with the result that, two days later, Norah, without suspecting it, became, in reality, Lady Arrowdale.

The day before the wedding Guildford Berton came up to London and to Lady Ferndale, begging for news of Norah. Lady Ferndale, however, quieted him and advised him to return to Santleigh, whither, she said, Norah would soon return. He went back obediently.

The same day, Mr. Petherick returned from the Continent, having received a letter from the earl he was seeking, requesting him to go to the Court and stay there until the earl should arrive.

Nine days later Cyril and Norah were walking along the parade at Torquay. It is summer and sunshine at this English Naples when the rest of England is cowering before the wintry blast, and these two young people walked arm in arm under the bright rays of King Sol, sauntering as slowly as if the month were June instead of November.

Nine days of perfect happiness will work miracles, and in these nine days Norah had lost all her pallor, and was as blooming a bride as even the most passionate of lovers could desire.

"And you don't ask me why I want you to go back to the Court so suddenly?" Cyril said.

"No," she replied, turning her lovely eyes upon him trustfully. "Why should I? If you don't wish to tell me why we are going to-morrow, why—well, don't. I am quite satisfi-

Cyril bent down and kissed the soft red lips.

"Norah, I always suspected that I had married an angel, now I know it! Will it be painful to you to go there, dearest?"

"No," she said, softly; "I was very happy there sometimes, and I—well, I grew to love the grand old place; and will you mind my saying that I shall feel rather sorry when I think to-morrow will be the last time I may ever see it again?"

"Perhaps it won't be," he said guardedly. "The new earl may—well, may be friendly, and invite us now and again—especially as you have surrendered all that money so readily."

They started quite early the next day, and Norah cast a wistful glance at the sunny watering place as the train moved out of the station. She had been so supremely and perfectly happy there, you see. It was a long journey, and they did not arrive at Ferndale with perfect gravity. God help us, we are all going to be drowned. All our sails are gone, three of our men are gone. Albert, my brother, has gone ahead. I am going to Heaven, my home will be there. God bless us. If anyone picks this up sent it all around the world. We are all going to Heaven, one hour more and we shall all be there. God help my wife and little children. We shall meet again. This note I am casting into the sea hoping that someone will pick it up. Only two men left. Only myself left now. The ship is giving way. Oh God take me home. My home, my wife, my children. I die in the arms of Jesus. My hour is come.

THE BEST GIFT KEEPS THE POT BOILING

Once more the Christmas Season,
With joy, will soon be here
And presents will be given,
By men and women fair,
But let me tell you truly
The best one of the lot
Recorded up in Heaven,
Is the gift put in the pot.

The good Salvation lassies,
S.A. young men also,
They stand beside the corners
In the biting frost and snow,
Unmindful of the weather
True to their charge I wot,
So don't forget when passing
To put something in the pot.

Much joy to many families
They brought in days of yore,
And at this blessed Christmas tide,
To bring relief once more;
They toil most unremittingly,
For those in humble cot,
The smallest sum is welcome
If you put it in the pot.

No greater gift 'neath Heaven,
Than such a gift as this
Which brings unto the needy,
A needed share of bliss
To make a household happy
You should share in the lot,
So don't forget when passing
To put something in the pot.

HOUSE DESTROYED

The Deputy Minister of Justice received a message yesterday from Magistrate Duggan of La Scie stating that on Monday last the residence of Mr. J. Terry, Coachman's Cove, was destroyed by fire with all its contents. Mr. Terry had no insurance on his property, and it is understood has a large family, who are left destitute as a result of the conflagration. Their case is indeed a sad one especially at this particular season of the year.

AT THE COUNCIL

The Weekly Meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Morris presided, and Councillors Peet, Jackman, Collier and Hallett were present.

After the Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, the following matters received the attention of the Board.

John F. Newman, Mount Royal Avenue, asked that the sanitary carts be sent to this locality to collect the garbage, etc. The Sanitary Supervisor was instructed to see what can be done.

Messrs. Harvey & Company, Ltd., acknowledged the Council's communication, and stated they hoped the decision of the Council to place a guhoy at the entrance to Shea's Premises next Spring, would not be overlooked.

Mr. J. C. Barter forwarded a communication, enclosing copies of correspondence, specifications and plans, and all other details, in reference to the work performed in connection with the erection of the working-men's houses, etc. This was considered satisfactory, and it was ordered that the B. P. presented for above services be paid.

It was ordered that the following marked on the outside "Tenders for Moulton's Premises."

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Purchasers will have the option of buying the stocks in Trade at a valuation.

matters be given attention, on the recommendations of the City Engineer:—(1) The extension of outfall sewer at Barr's Cove, (2) That a larger light be installed on Spencer Street, as the present one is considered insufficient to light the locality in question.

The City Engineer reported that the material used in the construction of the roof of the G. P. O. Annex is not in accordance with the Regulations governing such erections within the fire zone. It was ordered that the attention of the Superintendent of Public Works be drawn to the matter, and that he be notified to have the law in this respect carried out.

As the Snow Shovelling Contract for the Street Railway Company expires on the 31st instant, the Superintendent is to be asked to reply to Council's communication in relation thereto, so that a definite decision may be arrived at as quickly as possible.

It was decided to invite the Mayor-elect, Hon. Tasker Cook, and the newly-elected representatives of the Municipality of St. John's to attend the next Regular Meeting of the Board, to be held on Thursday next, so that this Council may place before its successors the present condition of affairs, and, at the same time, hand over to them the government of the City.

The report of the City Health Officer for the week, showed two new cases of diphtheria, and one of Scarlet Fever.

After disposing of several routine matters, accounts presented were ordered to be paid, and the meeting adjourned.

ST. JOHN'S NEWFOUNDLAND, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23rd., 1921.

Mr. Hawes and His "Dear Clients"

An Astounding Situation

We take the following article word for word from the Daily News. Being the Christmas season, we shall not make any "politics" out of it, simply pointing out that once again has Mr. Coaker been endorsed in his attitude towards the reckless policy of dealing with the Mediterranean markets on a consignment basis. Mr. Hawes and his "Dear Clients" want to rule the markets. They do so at the expense of the Fishermen and of Newfoundland.

And it is high time that Newfoundlanders arose and spoiled the game of Mr. Hawes who deliberately takes it upon himself to become the one man who shall say what price shall be paid for Newfoundland fish. A policy of "Rule or Ruin" indeed. Is it not time for a Fishery Policy?

It is a good sign to notice that the Board of Trade have taken this matter up and members of its Fish Council held a full meeting this morning to discuss the situation and this circular of Mr. Hawes. We learn that as a result of the meeting this morning, Mr. Hawes will be asked by the Exporters to explain his circular and his attitude thereto, before any further action is taken. It is felt that the matter is an outrage and that action of some sort is demanded. Even those who are still affiliated with Mr. Hawes can see now that his activities will have to be curbed in some way, as Newfoundlanders cannot continue to stay quiet under such an exposure as contained in this circular.

Here is the Daily News article:

A STARTLING CIRCULAR.

Copies of an extraordinary and somewhat startling circular, issued by Hawes & Company, Limited, and apparently addressed to customers in Spain, have recently been received by prominent fish merchants in the city. Headed "Situation of the Market for Labrador Codfish," and dated "Alicante, 21st October, 1921," the circular reads as follows:

Dear Clients,—In order to inform our customers respecting the position of the market in Spain for this class of fish which we import in larger quantities than any other firm, we are taking the liberty of addressing you this letter with the object of calling your attention to certain particulars and facts which it is well to bear in mind with a view to avoiding possible losses resulting from false reports.

In the first place it is not advisable at present to enter into any arrangements for the supply of fish which is not available for delivery. There is a firm which is offering Labrador fish to the retail trade for early arrival at Pesetas 105 on railway truck in Seville Station. We are certain that the firm in question will not receive their cargoes for the next two or three weeks, and naturally anyone who purchases now is running a positive risk of a drop in price by the time the fish arrives.

For our own part, we intend to meet all competition, and we are certain that whenever any other firm receives Labrador fish, we shall always quote as cheap or perhaps even cheaper.

For instance, we have just heard that a firm is landing Labrador fish in Malaga which they have offered at 103/105 Pesetas. We have lost no time in establishing our prices in Andalusia to meet competition, and we continue to rule the market. We shall do the same in other districts when our competitors afford occasion for our doing so.

We are aware that there are also firms who are offering French fish for delivery from the 10th of November onwards. We are glad to be able to inform our friends, so that they may be on their guard, that we are likewise prepared to compete with this fish as well, and that as soon as the first arrivals reach the ports in this country where it is now being offered, we will establish prices for Labrador fish which will enable our friends to check the importations of the fish in question. Any firms therefore who rely on the apparent difference between the price of the French fish and the present price of the Labrador article and enter into any arrangements in consequence of purchasing supplies of the French fish, are bound to lose money and it is with the object of preventing this that we have taken the liberty of giving this warning.

We shall always be pleased to furnish you with any particulars you may require respecting our business and beg to remain,

Yours truly,

(Sgd.) HAWES & CO. LTD.

Briefly the above circular means this:—Hawes & Co. have determined to control the Spanish market, and to this end are prepared to slaughter prices to meet and beat all competitors, be they British, French or Norwegian.

Now what Hawes & Company, Limited, may do with their own fish is a matter over which Newfoundland has no control; but when the wrecking of a valuable market is involved it becomes a

If You Can't Help, Then Do Not Hinder

Catalina, Dec. 19, 1921.
Editor Evening Advocate.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your interesting paper to say a few words in reply to Catalina Notes of the Telegram of 17th inst.

It seems to me nearly all the Tories are sick and confined to their houses for some reason or other; but I see by the Telegram that there is one out and getting around reporting the sick.

This worthy Tory said that the person who wrote about the parade being the largest on record, must have had mud in his eyes. I wonder what he had in his eyes, it must have been "Dope" or surely goodness he was blind while the parade was passing. The parade must have taken away his sight, and when he regained it, they were all gone, and as he didn't know how many were there, he thought he wouldn't let the people know he didn't know.

He ought to be ashamed of his reference to the "Big Boss" as he calls Hon. W. F. Coaker.

Mr. Coaker is a man; perhaps that's more than he is. Instead of hindering or trying to hinder Mr. Coaker in the good work that he is doing, he ought to be helping him, or, if he doesn't intend to help him, don't hinder him.

Certainly there are always so many to hinder a good work, and those that hinder are the ones that don't know good from evil, and don't even know what they are after.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor, and wishing Mr. Coaker every success.

I remain,
ONE OF COAKER'S.

No Clergyman Is Responsible

Wesleyville.
Dec. 22, 1921.

Editor Evening Advocate:

Dear Sir,—I have been assured by the Rural Dean of Bonavista Bay that no clergyman in the district is in any way responsible for the letter signed "Anglican" published in the Telegram November 26th. The F. P. U. District Council of Bonavista consequently withdraws the reference to clergyman contained in its resolutions dealing with the above "Anglican" letter, and accepting Rev. Canon Bayly's assurance, regrets the resolutions in reference to clergyman.

R. G. WINSOR,

question of grave concern, not only to the mercantile firms who have interests at stake there, but to this country as a whole. It is very evident that they are not carrying on an ordinary competitive business, are not merely content to meet the prices of their competitors, but are deliberately resorting to a policy of price-cutting with the avowed intention of ruling the market—a policy that carries with it all the elements of disaster.

The matter is thus an extremely serious one for this country, and it is essential that there should be some explanation as to the object behind this apparent desire to "rule the market," and also as to whose fish is being sacrificed to accomplish it. Labrador fish to the extent of twenty-five thousand quintals was shipped to Hawes & Company, Limited, during recent months, which it is stated, was purchased on their account. Is this the fish that is being slaughtered, or is there other fish under their control which might also be used to serve their ends, whatever they may be? The concern that is manifested in commercial circles would indicate so. This being the case the matter calls for immediate attention by the other parties interested. It might also be made the cause of official enquiry, so that the reason for this seemingly reckless policy—a policy of "rule or ruin"—which is being followed in one of our chief markets may be fully determined.—Daily News.

Distribution of Prizes and Concert Presbyterian Hall

The Annual Concert and distribution of prizes of the Presbyterian College was held in the Presbyterian Hall last night and was attended by a capacity audience.

The programme was divided into two parts. Part one consisted of a Cantata by the pupils, which had been prepared under the direction of the lady teachers of the College entitled: "Santa Claus' Mistaken."

Programme.

All the Characters, Nellie MacFarlane, as "Aunt Rachel" Jean McKinlay as "Mabel", Winiford Phillips as "Dot", Raymond Udie as "Santa Claus," and Ralph Wylie as "Dick," performed their parts in a very creditable manner. Though each did well, special mention must be made of Master Raymond Udie, who in his impersonation of "Santa Claus" portrayed his part in a most pleasing manner.

His actions were truly those of a benevolent old gentleman and he deserves great credit.

The choruses of the children were all pleasantly rendered, as were also the duets, solos and recitations. At the conclusion of the Concert programme the presentation of the prizes was proceeded with. Mr. J. J. McKay was moved to the chair and on the platform were: Mrs. Templeton, Miss Southcott, Messrs. D. M. Baird, A. K. Lumsden, R. Templeton, A. Hood and the Principal and teachers of the School.

A very pleasing incident occurred just before the Chairman's remarks, when one of the pupils presented Mrs. Templeman with a bouquet of carnations which was gracefully received by her.

Presentation.

In his opening remarks the chairman congratulated the School on the excellence of the entertainment. He spoke of the good work being done by the School and said that it would soon rank with the first in our city. He then asked Mrs. Templeton to present the prizes, which she did with great pleasure.

After the presentation the chairman again addressed the gathering, saying that instead of the children being given prizes, they were about to present a sum of money to a very worthy object, the Child Welfare Association. Miss M. Halliday, one of the pupils, in a very nice speech then told Miss Southcott that since the summer the children had been putting aside a little out of their pocket money every week in order to have a sum to present to the Child Welfare Association.

She then presented Miss Southcott with a cheque for $25.00. In thanking the pupils for the gift Miss Southcott outlined some of the aims and objects of the Association and concluded by wishing them all a very happy Christmas and a bright and prosperous New Year.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. D. M. Baird and accorded Mrs. Templeton by acclamation. Mr. A. K. Lumsden moved a vote of thanks to the lady teachers for their work in connection with the Cantata, which was passed with acclamation. The Principal spoke on behalf of the ladies. The Chairman on behalf of the Board of Governors voiced their appreciation of the results of the year's work and joined with the other speakers in wishing the pupils and audience a very happy Christmas and Prosperous New Year.

The National Anthem concluded the programme. Following is the list of prize winners:

OBITUARY

SAMUEL DURDLE.

Editor Advocate
Dear Editor—Please permit me space in your much read paper, the Advocate to record the death of our dear friend, Samuel Durdle, who was taken from us on Dec. 6th, just in the bloom of life. In all his suffering he was never heard to murmur or complain. Every means was tried for his recovery, but God thought best to take him. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. We can rest assured that he is resting in Jesus which is far better. He was laid to rest on Dec 8th, the funeral service being conducted by Rev. E. Broughton. He took his text from Job 14th Chap., and 14th verse. We deeply mourn his loss and extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved mother. He leaves to mourn a brother and two sister sisters and also a large number of relatives and friends. May his soul rest in peace.

One we loved has left our number

For the dark and silent tomb

Closed his eyes in deathless slumber

Faded in his early bloom

Silently the shades of evening

Gather round their lonely door

Sweet his memory to the lonely

In their hearts forever more.

From his friend,

MISS MARIA DRISCOLL.

New Melbourne, Dec. 15th, 1921.

The celebrated novelist allowed himself to be dragged to the theatre by a friend.

The man at the door would not admit them, though the novelist had a standing invitation to the house.

When the manager came he corrected the man at the door.

The novelist sat through the performance with stoical calmness, but on going out said, pathetically: "I am looking for that kind-hearted young man who did not want to let us in. I should like to give him half a crown."

Most of us are glad we lived in the good old days when you could kiss a girl and not taste anything but girl.

Portrait of a man, likely the subject of the obituary or a related figure.

Notes From Glovertown

Editor Advocate

Dear Sir,—A very pretty and successful garden party took place in the late autumn, bringing proceeds which added greatly to the credit of the new parsonage on Nov. 24th. The Ladies' Aid of the South Side held their sale of work, and social, raising the splendid sum of $75.00 for which these ladies deserve much credit.

Then we move along to Thanksgiving services, held on Nov. 27th, when the church was beautifully decorated and adorned with the many good rich fruits and vegetables of the land.

On Monday 28th, an auction sale was arranged which was also well attended, and proved to be very successful. Proceeds came to $100.00 (one hundred) and realized which has been indeed appreciated and redounds to the credit of all concerned.

A sale of work and tea etc., by the Ladies' Aid Association of Riverhead, on December 8th, is indeed worthy of no small comment, when in spite of the inclemency of the weather and with a small gathering the amount of $102.00 (one hundred and two) was raised. For this the Ladies' must have felt proud. They too, I am sure, are to be heartily congratulated.

On Sunday Dec. 11th, the Saunderson Cove people held their rally service. The day being such a splendid one, crowds by horse teams gathered from various parts of the bay, filling the S. Cove School Room to overflowing. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent, while the young especially must have been somewhat encouraged to rally on in the good old way.

At night in the Church at Riverhead, where a large audience had congregated, the Rev. E. R. Anthony, B.A. delivered a very able and appropriate sermon, taking his text from Rev. 21-1 "And there was no more sea."

E. A. G.

(We shall be glad to receive more notes from Glovertown, Ed. Advocate).

FAIR AND COLDER.

Ye Gods, old timer, did you hear that?

"No."

How Countries Got Their Names

Is Accounted For in Several Distinct Ways.

Many of Them Refer to Historic Events

Picturesque Legends are Often Recalled

There are several distinct ways of accounting for the present names of countries, continents, and states. Some of the ways, although widely accepted by millions of people for many centuries, are purely fanciful.

There is first of all the favourite method of our forefathers of tracing the whole population of a given nation or race down to one famous ancestor, usually invented, heroic qualities included, to fit in with the accepted desires of the people concerned.

Just as the Hebrews believed they were descended from Abraham, the grandfather of Jacob, who was afterwards called Israel, who in turn was the father of twelve sons, each the founder of one of the twelve tribes of Israel, so in the middle ages was it firmly believed that the heroes of Troy each founded a nation, now known by his name.

For example, the citizens of Paris were believed to be descended from the hero of that name, whose father was Piram; France was supposed to be founded by Francis, son of Hector; Tours by Turonus. Whilst Britain itself had a similar explanation gravely chronicled in the twelfth century by a contemporary historian.

It appears from this account that the British Isles were once called Albion and were peopled only by giants. Brutus, a Trojan prince, invaded the land, defeated the giants, and called it Britain after his own name. His companions were also called "Britons." One of them, whose name was Corineus, had a part of the country where giants abounded allotted to him, and this he named after himself, Corineus or Cornish. Hence the Cornwall of today, still famous to many children as the home of powerful giants.

Other explanations equally imposing were furnished to account for the names of most towns and countries of outstanding importance. Thus, Nuremberg originated with Nero, Jerusalem with King Jellus, Sillesia with the prophet Elisha. The Scots were descended from Scota, the daughter of Pharaoh; the Saracens from Sara, and the people of Prussia, from Prussu, brother of Augustus.

Rome was accounted for by a myth which told of the twin brothers Remus and Romulus—of their being suckled by a wolf in the days of their infancy, of their quarrel, and the consequent death of Remus, and the founding by his brother of the nation which he baptized after his own name, Romulus. Almost exactly the same explanation is given of Cyprus, the founder of the Persian empire.

The Greeks were known as Hellenes and so they invented a founder whose name was Hellen. He had three sons, Aeolus, Dorus and Ion, founders of the three branches of the Greek nation—the Aeolians, the Dorians and the Ionians, respectively. Another version tells of the twin brothers Danaos and Algytos, ancestors of the Danaoi (Greeks) and of the Aegyptians or Egyptians.

When America was discovered its origin was a disconcerting problem to contemporary historians, and at first it was believed that this continent was simply a branch of Asia—India in fact—and the original inhabitants are still known as Indians as a consequence. Let us now turn to the second and more correct explanation of the names of countries.

The continent of America was actually named after one of its discoverers, Americus Vesputius, and it will be found that in most cases, as might be expected, the original civilized discoverer of an unknown country, gives his name to the land concerned, or a place is known by the name of a famous conqueror of it.

Certain countries are known by the names of the races of people whose descendants now inhabit a given stretch of territory. The people who once lived in the countries on the north of Europe, now called Scandinavia, were known as the men from the north, or shortly, Northmen. When some of them settled in France they became known as Normans from which the district of Normandy takes its name.

The Scots, who, by the way, first lived in Ireland, settled eventually in the land which now bears their name, Scotland. The Angles with some other tribes came from Germany and settled in what came to be called Angleland, or England. The word "Welsh" was a term of contempt for barbarians used by our Teutonic forefathers for those who could not speak their own Low-Dutch language. "Deutchlander" was the term given, not as now merely to the inhabitants of Holland, but to the others of the same race who were also masters of the original Teutonic language. Hence, when the low-Dutch peoples—Angles, Jutes and Saxons—invaded Britain, the original Britons found there who were left after the Roman evacuation, retreated into the west and were referred to as the Welsh by the invaders, for the reason given.

The Huns, who, under Attila, invaded Europe, finally settled down in the land known to-day as Hungary. Austria itself had a separate origin. It is interesting to note, the outcome of the barrier which the Germans, or Franks, placed for protection between their own country and that of their ferocious neighbors—George Whitehead.

200 Workless In Tea Shop

Much surprise was caused to the staff of a Lyons tea shop at Clapham Junction yesterday just before noon, when 200 unemployed men came in and sat at the empty table, says a London, England, paper.

Each man ordered a cup of coffee, and remained in his place till after half past one, playing draughts or dominoes, and none of the ordinary customers of the place could get lunch.

At the end of that time all the men filed out in an orderly manner. Before they went they passed a vote of thanks to the manageress for her courtesy and tact, and each man insisted upon having a check for the 3 and a half pence he had spent on the coffee. Then they sang the "Red Flag."

Many policemen were on the spot, but none interfered. The peaceful demonstration passed off without hitch.

AND THEN SHE GLAURED.

A sweetie whose surname was Bauer sure was a delectable flatter.

I kissed her fair cheek, Then let out a shriek.

"The cream on your face has turned sauer!"

ing to the latest Treasury return, our internal debt, exclusive of Treasury Bills and Ways and Means advances, stood at £5,307,230,000 on September 30, as compared with £5,180,625,000 on March 31—an increase of £126,605,000 in six months.

Our total National Debt stands now at £7,831,744,300, and the interest payable on it this year was estimated in March at £345,000,000.

Such are capitalist economies recorded in figures. They are the account book of ruined Europe.

Three Vessels Have Rough Trip

(Halifax Herald.)

Three vessels arriving here yesterday from Newfoundland, had extremely boisterous trips. The schooner Cavalier, Captain Fred Miles, from Durin was two weeks making the passage, which included five days in at Louisbourg for shelter. She has 1,281 quintal of haddock for the local market.

The schooner Defender, Captain Theodore Keeping, was nine days coming from Wood's Island, with 1,900 barrels of Scotch packed herring, also for the local market. She was at North Sydney for three days for shelter. Off Canso, the Defender was struck by a squall and the forward part of the vessel was so far buried in the heavy sea, that Captain Keeping at the moment feared his vessel would not recover herself. At this time she broke her foreboom which the crew spliced after considerable difficulty.

Captain William Bennett, with 1,000 barrels of Scotch packed herring from Wood's Island, also reported a rough voyage. She was forced into North Sydney for shelter and put into Halifax for supplies and to repair gear. She is bound to New York with her cargo.

"I think, dear," said Mrs. Grabbit, "I'll ask the people next door to share our Christmas dinner."

"Why?" asked her husband.

"Well, the man left their turkey here by mistake, and it seems only fair."

Ruined Europe's Budget

REPARATIONS AND REVELATIONS

Berlin's Hope of The London Conference.

A further meeting of the Finance Committee of the Cabinet will probably be held next Tuesday to consider proposals affecting the payment of German reparations.

It is expected in Berlin, says an Exchange Telegraph message, that Dr. Rathenau will, within a very few days, resume the post of Minister of Reconstruction, which he resigned at the time of the Silesian decision.

As he is making his reappointment dependent on the result of the London Conference, Berlin feels very hopeful of a favourable agreement between England and Germany.

"PIOUS HORROR"

Meanwhile, writes our Diplomatic Correspondent, France, who, less than two months ago, so successfully lashed the lion's share of the reparations by negotiating the Wiesbaden Agreement with Dr. Rathenau, is now full of pious horror at the possibility of an Anglo-German loan.

"Germany, whose payment is due on January 1," comments the "Petit Journal," "has again begun her tactics to separate the Allies." M. Briand, fresh from his triumphs at Washington (would the "Petit Journal," by the way, regard these tactics to unite the Allies?), landed at Havre yesterday and was met there by the faithful M. Loucheur.

In the train to Paris, reports the "Matin," they were to discuss a scheme "to meet the problem caused by the collapse of the mark."

It is probable, one may suggest, that what they actually discussed was the problem caused by the rise of the mark.

For the mark has risen from 1,100 to 780 to the 12 in three days, as the direct result of Dr. Rathenau's London conversations.

This has already upset the German stock and share market considerably, and there will be some French capitalists at any rate, who will be sorry to see German shares depreciating.

THE TWO VIEWS

France, moreover, takes a different view of the uses of Germany from that which has at last—after three years—dawned on the intelligence of English and American capitalists. England and America want Germany to take her place again in the capitalist circle in order that she may help them by helping herself to prosperity.

France on the other hand ignores the circle and scouts the idea of mutual dependence. The only dependence she is interested in is the dependence of Germany on herself.

Germany—and the mark—are to be "kept low," while France steps in and takes us "security" for unpaid indemnities the material of Germany's industries.

France wants to tighten the grip with which she holds Germany down, the other Allies—for their own ends—want Germany on her feet again. Hence the hurried train conversations between M. Briand and his trusty lieutenant.

And, if Germany does get moratorium or a loan—or even a total remission of her debts? What about the rest of Europe?

What about Vienna, where the starving workers are rioting and pillaging in their desperation?

What about Russia, where, according to Dr. Nansen's latest telegram, "the conditions surpass our worst suppositions."

DR. NANSEN'S CALL

"Unless Europe," telegraphs Dr. Nansen, "intends to repudiate every humanitarian principle, it is the urgent duty of all peoples to make strenuous efforts in order that food-stuffs be sent with the least delay so as to reduce as far as possible the number of human beings inevitably condemned to death from starvation."

Will the capitalist Governments repudiate or recognise "humanitarian principle" in Russia?

It is certainly not from any humanitarian principle that they are proposing to "help" Germany. Though, if they did the same by other countries as well, it might be called sound common sense.

But they themselves are laden with debt, external and internal.

The indebtedness of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Poland to the United States has now reached a total of 10,141,267,585 dollars—that is, about £2,028,253,517 to which must be added about £200,000,000 of unpaid interest. Italy, Belgium and Jugo-Slavia owe money to France and to England as well.

THE WORLD'S CREDITOR

America is the world's creditor, and she is steadily increasing her share of the world's trade.

She is in a position to view her internal debt with equanimity. Can England do the same? Accord-

One of the Contestants in the Fisherman's Race Burned at Sea

Handsome Semi-Knockabout Donald J. Cook Abandoned on Fire—Wives of Captain and Cook Were on Board—All Hands Rescued.

The Donald J. Cook, one of the fishing schooners which participated in the Nova Scotia schooner race off Halifax in October, caught fire at sea and was abandoned by her crew, all of whom were saved.

Wireless messages were received in New York and Boston Sunday night, and yesterday W. C. Smith & Co., of Lunenburg, the home of the vessel, received a radio message via New York, from the steamer San Eduardo, to this effect:

"Schooner Donald J. Cook abandoned. Crew aboard steamer bound for Puerto, Mexico."

Captain Percy Oxner was commander of the Donald J. Cook, which left St. John's, Nfld., on December 2nd for Barbados. Ben Peeler was cook, and there were six other members of the crew. The captain, cook, their wives, both women being on board, and the six others were all from Riverport.

Captain William Cook was skipper of the Donald J. Cook during the Nova Scotia races. He is one of the owners. The schooner was of 99 tons registry.

The Donald J. Cook was abandoned in latitude 32.59, longitude 58.

Many will recall the Cook as a beautiful new semi-knockabout, built by Smith and Rhulani, at Lunenburg in 1919. She and her twin-sister, the Uda Corkum, were two of the ablest looking schooners in the last Nova Scotia fleet races. The vessels were as alike as two peas, the only difference being one inch in length.

Besides Captain Oxner and Peeler, the cook, the other members of the crew on this trip were Harry Rice, mate, and Donald Cook, Lawrence Croasser, William Mosher, Upper Kingsburg, and William Publicover, La Have, scummen.—Halifax Herald.

Little Boy Fires Gun And Kills His Father

A very sad accident occurred at Darby's Harbour, Placentia Bay, on the 9th inst. when Nathan Lake was instantly shot. It appears that he was returning from partridge hunting, and nearing his home was naturally leaning on the gun talking to his brother. A little boy, son of the unfortunate man, unaware of his being loaded and not comprehending the great danger, was playing around the gun, and in some way managed to set it off. The load was discharged fully in the man's body, causing instant death. As he was predeceased by his wife and two children in less than a year, this catastrophe renews the great sorrow and casts a gloom over the little settlement. The writer extends sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

CONNORS STATES WIFE'S RECOVERY WAS WONDERFUL

Newfoundland Man Is Amazed at Rapid Improvement in Health of His Wife.

"I have never seen anybody improve as much as my wife has in a short time; I can hardly believe my eyes when I look at her," said Patrick Connors, well-known citizen of Witless Bay, Newfoundland.

"For twelve years my wife had been troubled with indigestion, and sometime I have seen her gasp for breath as if she was about to die. These smothering spells frequently came on at night and I would have to prop her up in bed on pillows so that she could breathe.

"It's wonderful the way Tanlac benefited her. She has a splendid appetite now, everything she eats agrees with her and she has gotten her strength back, too. Tanlac is certainly one medicine that does everything they say it will do."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

THE FINAL COUNT

MARTIN, OUTERBRIDGE, VINCOMBE, COLLIER, RYAN AND DOWDEN ARE THE SUCCESSFUL ONES.

The work of counting the ballots in the Municipal election was completed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Returning Officer Doyle and his staff. There was the keenest interest in the count during the afternoon owing to the fact that the race for sixth place between Dowden and Brophy was, perhaps, the tightest ever seen in an election here. As the second last bulletin was issued it was seen that Dowden had 1108 votes to his credit and Brophy 1107. There remained 30 votes to be counted and when these had been gone through Dowden was two ahead of Brophy. There were 93 spoiled ballots which were afterwards scrutinized in the presence of Messrs. Dowden and Brophy but the result was not altered and the successful councillors as announced by the Returning Officer were Messrs. J. T. Martin, Philip E. Outerbridge, N. J. Vincombe, M. H. A. S. G. Collier, C. W. Ryan and Reg Dowden.

Mayor Morris, who was present made a congratulatory speech in which he included Mr. Doyle and staff, his successful opponent in the mayoral contest and the newly elected board. Messrs. Ruby, Feil, Outerbridge, Ryan and Whitty also spoke. The final count was:

WEDDING BELLS

HUMPHRIES—CLARKE

At St. Thomas' Church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mr. Hayward Clarke of Carboncar led to the altar Miss Eliza Humphries, only daughter of Mrs. and the late Martin Humphries of Fogo. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. A. Moulton. Mrs. William J. E. Simmonds was matron of honor, and Mr. Herbert Gosse supported the groom. The bride wore a travelling costume of navy (picoté with wine color hat; and the bridesmaid a dress of navy serge with hat to match. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. Herbert Gosse, Plymouth Road, after which the young couple boarded the 6 o'clock train for Carboncar where they will make their future home. The presents received were numerous, amongst them being a handsome rocker from the staff of the Royal Stores, the bride having been employed in the dressmaking department of that firm for the past four years. The best wishes of their many friends are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke for a long and pleasant sail over the sea of life.—CQM.

The Romeo Case Star of the Sea Association

Accused Found Guilty of Larceny.

The case of the King vs. Captain Parsons, Kenneth White, Harold Matthews and Joseph Lush, charged with the larceny of $700.00 worth of goods from the cargo of the schr. Romeo was resumed in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Kent yesterday, when the examination of Captain Parsons the first witness for the defence was continued by Mr. Mews for the Crown. Re-examined by Mr. G. W. B. Ayre witness told the story of the vessels breaking adrift from Fisher's Cove, and of their reasons for taking the cases of rubbers from the vessel's cargo. He also stated that none of the goods was broken open on board the Romeo. Fisher's crew claimed salvage and the goods were divided with them, before leaving for St. John's with the understanding that Fisher was to hold the balance till he received instructions from the owners or the insurance agents. The goods were packed in the barrels and marked as fish, because it would cost less to have them transported to St. John's. Mate George White was next examined and his evidence was similar to the Captain's. The witness stated the vessel's foremast and jib were carried away and the schooner was leaking. White arranged with Fisher to have the crew off if the weather became bad. When the first chain parted they struggled for help, and when Fisher came alongside asked him to save some cases. These were taken from the cabin and on being landed were taken to Fisher's house. Later the crew went on board and found three feet of water in the hold. They then decided to salvage whatever cargo possible. White's examination was concluded after recess hour, when Harold Matthews and Joseph Lush, members of the crew were examined. Their evidence was but a corroboration of the Captain and Mate's story. At 4.30 p.m. Mr. George W. B. Ayre on behalf of the accused addressed the jury and for over one hour reviewed the evidence on behalf of his clients, whom he believed acted in all honesty during the whole proceedings. Mr. F. A. Mews for the Crown, addressed the jury at 5.30 p.m. concluding at 6 p.m. After recess Mr. Justice Kent reviewed the evidence for the benefit of the jury, and at 8.30 p.m. the jury retired to consider a verdict. After an hour's deliberation they returned to Court, and thru their foreman, Mr. R. H. Simms, announced they had found accused guilty of a breach of sec. 2, of the larceny Act, but not guilty in the second count, that of stealing goods from the vessel. They also recommended the prisoners to the mercy of the Court. Mr. Justice Kent in dismissing the jury from further service, thanked them for the manner in which they performed their duties during the three days trial, and announced he would give every consideration to their plea for mercy. The accused will come up for sentence on Tuesday morning next at 11 o'clock.
